

Create the network given in the picture and configure them so that all networks use the same DHCP server for DHCP query (Position given in picture). Similarly all network should use the same DNS server (Position given in picture). Three of the networks have been identified, you can define the rest of the networks as you see fit. You will have to use OSPF as routing protocol